2026 Conference - Terms and Conditions

When registering to attend the Conference, you accept the following registration terms:

Registration and payments

All prices are stated in Australian Dollars ($AUD) and are inclusive of GST. Payment will only be accepted in Australian Dollars. Payments are usually made via credit card through a secure payment gateway.

Conference registrations must be paid in full prior to the Conference. Your registration will not be confirmed until full payment has been received.

Full registration includes:

1. Conference sessions from 04-06 November 2026
2. Morning and afternoon teas, lunch (except 06 November)
3. Ticket to the evening reception event on 04 November.

Cancellations

1. All cancellations must be made in writing by COB on 28 October 2026 or earlier Should the cancellation be made in this timeframe, participants have ONE of the following options:
    - Send a substitute in their place; OR
    - Cancel their booking and request a refund.
2. No refund will be provided for cancellations after COB on 28 October 2026, except in the case of exceptional circumstances as determined by The University of Queensland Business School in its discretion.
3. If the Conference is cancelled, 100% of the registration fee paid will be refunded.

Agreement to pay in full

By submitting a registration, you agree to pay for the Conference in full whether or not you attend any or all of the event(s), unless negotiated otherwise with the Conference organising committee (via researchteam@business.uq.edu.au). If your personal circumstances change, or health or family issues arise, please contact us immediately to discuss your situation.

Disclaimer of liability

The Conference organisers reserve the right to amend any part of the Conference program or event should it be necessary. The University of Queensland and their affiliates will not accept any liability for damages of any nature sustained by participants for loss or damage to their personal property as a result of the Conference or related event. In the event of unforeseen circumstances, The University of Queensland and their affiliates will not accept responsibility for loss of monies incurred.

Information sharing and data use

The University of Queensland is committed to protecting your personal information and will not share any of your information with a third party. Communication will be restricted to information specifically related to your attendance at the Conference and in informing you of future conferences. In registering for the Conference, you accept that relevant details may be forwarded to the organising committee and others involved in the organisation of the event.

During the face-to-face Conference and its associated event, photos and video footage will be taken. Unless you advise us otherwise, your registration for the Conference implies permission for us to use the photos and video for publicity, promotional or instructional purposes, including uploading to the Internet.

If you do not wish to be included in photographs and video recordings made at the Conference, it is your responsibility to inform the photographer or videographer at the time.

Recording

Participants are not permitted to personally record the Conference sessions through video capture or any other software. Participants are not permitted to take screenshots of Conference sessions, or selfies in which others appear on screen, unless permission is sought and recorded consent is given by all participants.

Shipping/tickets

No tickets will be issued. You will, however, receive email confirmation of your Conference registration upon payment.

Professional conduct

- Code of Conduct: Attendees are expected to adhere to The University of Queensland's Code of Conduct, which emphasises respect, integrity and ethical behaviour in all interactions.
- Anti-Harassment Policy: The Conference is committed to providing a harassment-free experience for everyone, regardless of gender, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, race or religion. Any form of harassment is not tolerated.
- Academic Integrity: Attendees must uphold the highest standards of academic integrity, avoiding plagiarism, cheating and other forms of academic misconduct.
- Respectful Communication: Participants should engage in respectful and constructive dialogue, refraining from disruptive behaviour or offensive language.
- Confidentiality: All participants are to respect the confidentiality of unpublished research and proprietary information shared during the Conference.
- Reporting Misconduct: Procedures for reporting any breaches of conduct, including harassment or academic misconduct, will be clearly outlined at the Conference.
