

MASTER OF LEADERSHIP IN SERVICE INNOVATION

The Master of Leadership in Service Innovation blends research and best practice in business leadership, innovation, service science, service management, and experience design. By adopting a cross-disciplinary, global perspective, this program aims to develop the transformational mindset, organisational and leadership capabilities you'll need to face two critical emerging business challenges. Firstly the move to a service and experience-based economy and secondly the importance of embedding a culture of customer experience, value co-creation and continuous innovation in organisations to execute new ideas and create value for all stakeholders.

Students have the opportunity to get a feel for the Master's program with the Business Leadership MicroMasters. This MicroMasters program is designed to advance careers and can also count as 8 of the 24 credit units required for the Master of Leadership in Service Innovation.
